Is Kyle Yankey the main person taking care of any children under age 19 living in the household?

For married couples living together, both spouses can answer yes. For divorced or separated parents, only the parent who lives with the child (or lives with the child most of the time, if joint custody) may answer yes. Some adults can get more help paying for coverage if they take care of a child.

Tax Households and the Marketplace

1. To calculate eligibility for APTC/CSRs, the Marketplace asks for each applicant’s tax filing status and who will be on their 2018 tax return.
2. Individuals who appear together on the same tax return are in the same tax household.

Tax household = Tax filer + spouse (joint tax filer) + tax dependents
- Include: Dependents who file their own tax returns (Example: Young adult children)
- Include: Spouse and dependents, even if they aren’t applying for health coverage on this application

Due to FFM operational limitations, only members of a single tax household can be included as applicants on a single application, if the applicants are applying for help paying for coverage
- Other members of the household who are part of a separate tax household should still be listed on the application as non-applicants, so they are counted in the applicants’ family size and their income is correctly included in household income.
- Financial assistance applicants in different tax households can select the same Marketplace plan, but they will be issued different policies and will have separate premium payments and deductibles.
Households for Medicaid and CHIP Eligibility

- The household rules for Medicaid and CHIP eligibility are a little bit different.
  - For example, consumers who do not file tax returns and are not claimed as tax dependents can still submit applications and be found eligible for Medicaid or CHIP, even though they do not have a tax household.
  - Another example of a difference is that sometimes people on separate tax returns have to be added to the application because for Medicaid and CHIP eligibility they are counted in the household. For example, if a child lives with one or both parents, the application will always collect information about the child’s parents, even if they don’t claim the child as a tax dependent, and even if they are not seeking coverage for themselves.
• Applicants who file their own tax returns must apply for Marketplace coverage with financial assistance separately if neither claims the other as a dependent.
  – Example: Domestic partners

• These applicants aren’t part of the same tax household.

• A current system limitation prevents family members in different tax households from enrolling in a plan together.
  – This limitation affects applicants who are eligible for financial assistance to help pay for Marketplace coverage (APTC/CSRs).

• To learn more about who is part of the same household, visit:
Determining a Multi-tax Household

• Confirm that the applicant is applying for help paying for coverage.

• Identify the people in the household and their plans for filing taxes for 2018.
  – Do you plan on filing a federal income tax return for 2018?
  – If married, do you plan to file jointly with your spouse?
  – Will you claim any dependents?
  – Does anyone in your household file taxes separately, who you do not claim as a dependent?

• Remember that tax households (i.e., tax filer(s) and tax dependents) should all be on one application together.
  – If an applicant is claimed (or could be claimed) on someone else’s tax return as a dependent, then they need to be on the application with their claiming tax filer. Tax dependents are not eligible for Premium Tax Credits on their own, even if they file their own taxes.

• IMPORTANT REMINDER: Applicants must agree to file federal income taxes in order to qualify for APTC for themselves or members of their tax household. If married, they also must file a tax return jointly with their spouse (unless a victim of domestic abuse or spousal abandonment). Applicants who receive APTC but fail to file a tax return and reconcile APTC paid for them are not eligible to receive APTC in future years. This issue is addressed in a separate presentation.
Completing Separate Applications

• Submit one application per tax household.
  – Need separate user accounts for each application

• For each tax household, list members of the tax household as applicants on only ONE application.
  – List the other household members as non-applicants on the application

• Members of each application will be on their own policy, but can still select the same plan, if they choose to.
Key Points to Remember

• Identify how a household plans to file taxes.
• If the household plans to file more than one tax return, call the Marketplace Call Center for help OR submit separate applications for each.
